The Mass intentions are now listed in the weekly calendar.

Parish Incorporation

The Holy See in 1911 directed dioceses in the U.S. to move toward the civil law model of parish incorporation because it most closely aligned with canon law and the way the parishes already held canon law ownership of their property. Since that time, many dioceses around the country have separately incorporated their parishes and incorporation has become widely accepted as a method of organizing parishes. The dioceses in Michigan that have successfully incorporated their parishes include Lansing, Gaylord, Grand Rapids, and Saginaw. In some instances, civil courts in other states have directed dioceses to incorporate their parishes to reinforce, in civil law, that parish assets belong to the parish, not the diocese.

Our Bishop John Doerfler has already announced that the process of parish incorporation is in our diocese is underway; this process will incorporate every parish in the diocese as a Michigan nonprofit corporation. According to church law and theology, each parish and diocese has its own unique set of rights and responsibilities, including the obligation to administer church property. The separate incorporation of parishes is the civil law structure that most accurately reflects ecclesiastical law and theology. Creating nonprofit parish corporations is the simplest and most effective way of ensuring that the rights of parishes regarding church property are respected, not only in church law, but in civil law.

Questions and Answers

What is the present legal structure of the parishes and missions of the diocese?

Under the laws of the State of Michigan, the Diocese of Marquette exists as a “corporation sole.” This model is several centuries old and developed out of various historical contexts. This structure civilly recognizes church property as held by the bishop in trust for the benefit of the parishes and other Church-affiliated parties. The corporation sole model is problematic because it gives the false impression that the bishop has ownership of all parish property in his diocese. According to canon law, the goods of a parish belong to the parish itself, and not to the bishop – although canon law does require a pastor to make an account to the diocesan bishop as to how parish property is acquired, administered, and sold. Prior to incorporation, parishes are structured as unincorporated associations under civil law. Is parish incorporation something new or have other dioceses already separately incorporated parishes? Many dioceses around the country have separately incorporated their parishes for many years. In fact, as far back as 1911, the Holy See stated that dioceses in the United States should pursue parish incorporation. Many dioceses have adopted this legal structure as a normal part of parish and diocesan life.

What will it cost the parishes and missions to incorporate?

The diocese will assume the legal costs of filing the articles of incorporation and retitling the property. How will this affect the day-to-day life of the parish or mission?

There should be no substantial change in the normal operation and administration of any parish or mission. The Pastor/Administrator will continue to administer the parish as previously, consulting with the finance council as currently required. The parish will remain in communication with and accountable to the bishop. Permission of the bishop will still be needed when administration of parish goods is an act of major importance according to current diocesan policy and practice. The fact of civil incorporation will not change the basic pattern of parish and diocesan life.

Will there be a board of directors for the parish corporation? If so, who will be the members of the board?

Each parish will have a board of directors. The board of directors will be comprised of the pastor (or Parochial administrator or priest moderator), the chair of the parish finance council, and two directors appointed by the pastor. To be consistent with the structure of parishes in church law, the finance council chair and the directors appointed by the pastor will have a consultative vote and the pastor will have a deliberative vote.

SPIRIT LIFTERS

July 9th - To everything there is a season and a time to every purpose under heaven. Eccl. 3:1

July 10th - It is always commendable to get in and dig, but be careful where you throw the dirt.

July 11th - You can never do a kindness too soon...because you never know how soon...it will be too late.

July 12th - Never mind yesterday, life is today! Never mind yesterday, lay it away! Never mind anything over and done, Here is a new moment, lit with new sun.

July 13th - If God is your Father through Jesus Christ, then you will know and feel that ALL of His children are your brothers.

July 14th - Study the Bible to be wise; believe it to be safe; practice it to be holy.

July 15th - With the kiss of the sun for pardon, And the song of the birds for mirth, One is nearer God's heart in a garden, Than anywhere else on earth.

St. Vincent DePaul Corner

In the Gospel today we hear Jesus say: "Come to me, all you who labor and are burdened, and I will give you rest."

Your gift to the Society of St. Vincent de Paul brings peace to those who are overwhelmed with life's burdens.

ASK BISHOP JOHN DOERFLER TO PRAY FOR YOU

A direct mailing was sent to all registered households from Bishop John Doerfler in early June. Helping to fulfill one of his primary obligations, to pray for the people of the Diocese of Marquette, Bishop John Doerfler invites parishioners to send personal prayer requests. Returned prayer cards are kept in his private chapel, where he will pray for your intentions for the next year.

ACTION ALERTS-SIGN UP TO KEEP INFORMED ON PERTINENT ISSUES

To help keep Catholics informed of pertinent issues on both the State and National level, Catholics are encouraged to sign up for notices from the Michigan Catholic Conference and the United States Catholic Conference of Bishops. These vehicles issue timely notices and information on issues pertinent to the Catholic Church.

You may sign up for alerts from the Michigan Catholic Conference by following this link: <https://www.micatholic.org/advocacy/catholic-advocacy-network/> or : <https://www.voterveice.net/USCCB/home>

It's that time of year again to start thinking of the donations for the BUCKET RAFFLE! Also, we are having the HARVEST DINNER, Sunday, Oct. 15th.
